

One of the first things you do when arriving at your hotel on holiday is switch off your weekday alarms. Instead, you wake to the chorus of birds greeting the sunrise. Inspired by South Africa's rich birdlife, and more specifically the vibrant Livingstone Turaco Loerie, The Chorus represents the transition from everyday routine to a slower rhythm of nature. Located in the lobby of a contemporary luxury hotel, the rug becomes a symbolic threshold where birdsong replaces alarms and each day begins with the beauty of the natural world.
