

LITHOS

This organic rug draws inspiration from the intricate beauty of geode crystals. Rooted in South Africa, a country renowned for its abundance of natural resources, the design celebrates the beauty found within the natural landscape while creating something both meaningful and visually striking. Geodes are formed when mineral-rich groundwater seeps into empty cavities inside volcanic or sedimentary rocks. In the same way, this design represents the idea of filling the cracks with something fresh, inspired, and beautiful—transforming empty spaces into places of creativity, wonder, and connection.
